Proposition To Open Three Railroad Crossings For General Travel

KINGSBURG, Oct. 24.—Complaint has recently been made here that people driving on the road do not observe the "law of the road." That is to say, some people, in passing others, stay in the middle of the highway, or even drive along on the wrong side, making it impossible for those coming in an opposite direction to pass without danger of making a wreck for one of the two or possibly both. Fred Wright tells of an instance a few days ago. He was coming, driving along the edge of the right side of the road, when a double rig, coming at a fast clip was about to meet him. He saw plainly that unless he cleared the road he would be run into, so he kept turning his horse further to the right until he was fairly on the sidewalk. Whether the people do not know or whether they do not care about observing these rules of turning to the right is not known, but it has been determined to keep up an agitation on this subject until there shall be no excuse for any one to do otherwise than to turn to the right in meeting other rigs on the public road.

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of childbirth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment will be sent free.

GRIFFITH DIRECTS TEAM FROM ROOF
There are bench managers, playing managers, grandstand managers and roof managers. All of them are known to baseball patrons and have gained more or less fame in the annals of the sport. But search the archives of the national game, and there will appear perhaps only one name under the head of "roof managers" and that name is Griffith. During the star of the world's championship contest in Pittsburgh, Griffith had the famous fever in his most violent form on two or three occasions, and after he had prescribed for it in the usual white water he told how he had become a "roof manager." "We were playing in Detroit in a series of hot games," said Griffith, "when one of these occasions arose where it was necessary for the manager of my team to assist himself. I being the aforementioned manager of said team, I proceeded to lay down the law to the umpire, and before I knew it I found myself an outcast in a doublet, and my men from my natural agent, the enemy of all mankind. There was my team on the field battling without a general, and I on the outside, gnashing my teeth and uttering more 'fudges' and things than I could utter in a lifetime. Finally I was looking for an available place from which to view the game. I saw a ladder standing by a house. Quick as a flash I placed the ladder on the side of the residence, clambered up and have since then been perched on the roof of the playing field, and in a moment was directing my men from that point of vantage. Being off the lot, the umpire had no jurisdiction over me, and

ENTHUSIASM

Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols, the new president of Dartmouth, called attention in his inaugural address to a new phase of college life which outside observers will recognize as not confined to college life alone—the sham-facedness of enthusiasm. In college, Dr. Nichols says, "in only one phase of college life today may a student, other than shamefacedly, show a full measure of pleasurable excitement, and that is in athletics." Of good lesson-getting there is as much as ever, and modern college students probably acquire more and wider actual knowledge than did their predecessors. But they show less interest in it—they even affect an indifference to it. Over football, they may shout, but over the deepest intellectual and spiritual interests they can do little better than light banter.

Dr. Fox thinks the infection came from outside, but a part at least of it is we think pure college tradition. There has long been a "Harvard manner"—originally an Oxford manner—which has gradually affected the manners of all other colleges. It is a manner difficult to describe, though easy to acquire, but one of its features is an easy, blasé indifference, an affected modesty, and a studied understatement of big things. A Harvard or Oxford man, for instance, would not do to find the North Pole. He might go to it, with brilliant courage and energy, if he happened to be in the neighborhood and thought it worth while, but when he came back his narrative would have no thrills. A deprecating statement that "it's cold up there, and we were jolly hungry when we got back to the first dog-catcher" would be about all you could drag out of an Oxford pole-finder. Of the bombast which has helped make heroes since Hector boasted and Jamshyd "gloried," they would be heartily ashamed. The "freshness" which is the first outbreak of bashfulness in the verdant youth has given place in college to an affected indifference which is its second form.

But outside of college we see the same tendency. On the stage, we praise realism and repression. If John McCullough or any of his school of shouters were to come back, we would hoot them off the stage. Oratory has gone out of fashion, partly because it was usually foolish, but chiefly because it was always impassioned. In religion, it is no longer customary to manifest great zeal, even if you have it. Social life has become an affected boredom. Politics, in its last stages, when it becomes a scrimmage may arouse a sort of athletic enthusiasm, but as an earnest contest of principles it is fashionable to express no enthusiasm, and it is only too common to feel none.

It is the way of an older Anglo-Saxon civilization. England has gone that way. Possibly we shall be rescued from finally succumbing to it by the increasing Latin element in our civilization. It is to be hoped so. For enthusiasm is the force that moves the world.

A TAMMANY BLUFF

The shriek—let us rather call it squeak—from William J. Gaynor, Tammany nominee for mayor of New York, against the revelations in McClure's magazine, simply exhibits the helplessness of the man. Evidently Tammany chose wisely in picking Judge Gaynor for its respectable figurehead. It usually does. McClure is an ideal choice—youth, personally clean, of distinguished name—and totally devoid of imagination or larger grasp of the situation. He made good. That is, he made the goods, for Tammany, and put a good face forward. Judge Gaynor was a still holder choice, for a still more desperate situation. He was not merely a negatively respectable man, like McClure; he had been a positive and outspoken reformer. He was, in fact, just the type that the reformers themselves might have fooled into nominating. If Tammany had not got to him first, but Tammany does not get fooled. That is where it has it over the reformers. The Tammany leaders know men, high and low, and when they pick an innocuous man to hold between themselves and the public, they know which man will submit to being a mere passive screen. They picked Gaynor for that man, and they make no mistake.

The bluff, of both Gaynor and Murphy, in regard to the Jews, is transparent. It is a shallow demagogic appeal to the racial feeling of the large Jewish vote of New York. But both the articles in McClure's, so far as they denounced the Jewish "kafans," who are just now the chief promoters of the vilest traffic in New York, quoted their strongest denunciations of these vermin from the sermons of rabbis and the resolutions of Jewish societies. A photograph was printed of the cemetery these people have had to buy for themselves, because the Jews will not even tolerate their carcasses in Jewish burying grounds. The curious paradox was pointed out that at the two most important periods of the organization of this vile traffic, economic reasons so far overcame racial tendencies that the victims of the procurers were predominantly taken from precisely the two races which have most justly prided themselves on the virtue of their women—the Irish and the Jews—and this because at the former period the Irish and now the Jews offer the greatest mass of recently imported poverty, which is, of course the profit of such inquiries. All this was plain enough in the articles, and is plain enough to the intelligent Jews of New York. Tammany appeals now to the Jews, as it once did to the Irish, not as Jews, nor as Irish, but simply as the most recently imported, and therefore the most workable raw material. The Irish hoodlum was Tammany's strong-arm man, in the old days, it was poverty that made hoodlums, and with the prosperity of the Irish their usefulness as Tammany's privateers ceased. Now they are officers. The sham element among the poverty-stricken Jews recently driven from the Polish ghettos, who have flooded into New York eight hundred thousand strong, contains the good and the bad elements of all shams. Tammany is herding the bad element. And the worst of them, the kaffans and their under workers, have been used by Tammany for political control. But just this fact has set against Tammany all the moral and social leadership among the Jews. If, as Tammany seems to assume, the Jewish vote is going to determine the result in New York, we shall be very much mistaken if even the poorest of the Jews do not prefer to follow rather their rabbis than their kaffans.

This New York contest will be followed with nation-wide interest. The only difficulty is the usual failure of reformers to find a leader. The reform movement is right, and its indictment against Tammany is irrefragably conclusive. But it has already divided under two leaders—Cannard, whom nobody knows, and Hearst, whom nobody trusts.

RAISIN MARKET BEING WATCHED

Commercial Paper Tells of the Coast Situation

Purpose of Packers in Their Latest Move Is Cause of Speculation

The following article, which appeared in the New York Journal of Commerce of October 20th, exemplifies how closely the Eastern buyers are following developments in the raisin situation:

"There is a stronger and somewhat higher market for raisins on the coast, which is attributed to a concerted movement on the part of the big packers to secure control of the season's crop. It is reported that they offer 20c in the southwest for the entire crop, though they would be willing to take less than 20,000 tons at that price. The action of the growers in completing their million dollar crop in the south is being attacked up the packers and they are reported to be trying by this move to block the successful issue of the plan of the leaders of the growers' corporation project.

"By offering 20c to growers as a preliminary, with advantageous terms of payment, the expectation of the packers, according to report, is to discourage them from taking stock in the new company and turning over their crops to it to be marketed under the leadership of the packers. All this, however, is merely surmise, as so far as can be learned there have been no definite advances on the subject from the coast.

"The basis for the opinions held by Eastern handlers of raisins is the sudden and rather sharp advance in the f. o. b. coast prices. There does not appear to have been any general notification of their agents here by the packers of an intention to raise prices, and it is not known whether the expenditure of a good deal of time and energy in getting buyers up to the point of submitting orders for late October or November shipment on the basis of present prices, or whether they have offered turned down and been given to understand that business would be accepted unless at an advance of a quarter to a half a cent a pound on the recent quotations. The test seems to have been made so far only on loose muscatels."

ENGAGE IN FIGHT; BOTH ARE INJURED

As the result of a fight at the corner of Mariposa and E streets last night shortly after midnight, Mike Molino, an Italian, was stabbed twice in the side and back by T. Morrell, a Mexican, while he in turn stabbed Morrell in the left shoulder and inflicted a bad flesh wound.

Both men were brought to the emergency hospital, where their injuries were dressed by Dr. Floyd Burke.

The fight occurred at the corner of Mariposa and E streets and Morrell was picked up there. Molino managed to get to Fresno and E streets, where he was shot by a Mexican woman, assisted Morrell to his feet after the shooting and carried him in an alley. She was arrested when Morrell was taken to the hospital, but denied any knowledge of the affair.

Molino persisted that he was shot by a woman by the name of Mary, and it was not until Molino was brought in that the true state of affairs was learned. Molino was stabbed with pocket knife while Morrell was shot with a .38-calibre revolver.

DOUGHERTY FAMILY NOT LOST IN DESERT

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 24.—The family of five reported lost in the desert of the northeastern part of this county, is not that of J. J. Dougherty of this city, as reported by Miss Bertha Dougherty of Chicago, Jay Dougherty, his wife and children, are all safe at home on Newton avenue.

Dougherty told the Associated Press correspondent today that he had written his sister in Chicago that he thought of going on a reservation in Imperial county and presumed she jumped in to the excitement that it must be his family which was lost.

The identity of the last family is still unknown here.

BRIEF EDITORIAL FANCIES SELECTED

Too Honest a Teacher

Miss Isabelle Wilson, a teacher in the high school of Chicago, has been appointed official censor of the costumes of female employees of one of the largest State street department stores. It is the duty of the girl who is to inspect the girls. Now the saleswomen must appear neatly attired in a black or white shirtwaist, black skirt, and dark stockings, without artificial adornment and minus all exaggerations of the fashions.

Here are some of the things which Mrs. Reynolds eliminated from the attire of women and girl employees of the store:

Hair puffs, rats, false curls and hair bows; low neck collars and short or extremely long sleeves; peg-a-hoo

A Call from the President

President Taft gave the Gate City a brief call yesterday afternoon. He was whisked through the streets so quickly that many people failed to see him at all, while the balance got but a glance at his stately figure. Now it is to be recalled that the President's auto failed to stop even for a moment at Lago park, where several hundred anxious school children from this city, Highland and Elkhart were massed. But he passed rapidly, hardly a cheer greeted him from the little people, many of whom were sorely disappointed that the President did not speak a few words to them. Likewise the pioneers, whose labors helped to make this beautiful valley of today, failed to get the honor of greeting as the President passed.

But the President is not to blame for the slight which this city received. The plans were made by that Los Angeles committee which insisted, in spite of the protests of the San Bernardino people, that nothing more could be done for this city. A schedule of four miles an hour was to be followed here, but instead of four miles a pace of 15 or 20 miles was maintained, which made it impossible for the people to hardly get a glimpse of the chief executive, much less for the school children and pioneers to greet him in a suitable manner.

Nevertheless San Bernardino was glad to greet the President. We should be glad to hope he will again make a call here, and that next time he will be in the hands of a pilot of broader views and of a more gracious spirit than he was yesterday.—San Bernardino Sun.

Looks Like Persecution

The fight that is being made on Dr. Frederick Cook by Peary and his partisans begins to look more like persecution of the brave explorer than anything else. The campaign that is being carried on by Peary and his partisans is nothing more than a petty penny war. Who is financing the fight and what do they expect to gain by it?

Throughout it all Dr. Cook continues to conduct himself in a straightforward, gentlemanly manner, which is rapidly winning over even those who were perhaps slightly in doubt as to which horn of the dilemma they would grasp.

As to the latest broadside in attempting to prove that Dr. Cook never climbed Mt. McKinley, he has invited a number of explorers and scientists to head an expedition to the top of the mountain where he says they will find the records that he deposited. If they cannot make the trip, Dr. Cook states that he himself will head an expedition and prove to the world the truth of his assertions.

That the people of the country have in Dr. Cook is shown by the continued universal press comments, since Peary published his so-called "evidence," condemning Peary and his partisans in their fight against a man who has shown himself to be both gentlemanly and broadminded.

If Peary continues his campaign against Dr. Cook much longer, it will be wholly unnecessary for the latter to go to the top of Mt. McKinley or to bring back his Esquimaux to furnish evidence to back up his claims. His upright course is enough for the American people thus far.—San Bernardino Sun.

WALSH RAILROADS MAY BE SOLD

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The Chicago Record Herald tomorrow will say: A conference is scheduled to be held this morning which it is expected will result in the sale of the John R. Walsh railroad to a syndicate of prominent railroad men.

According to reports in circulation all day yesterday, negotiations have been in progress for several days that will end some time today in the taking over of the Southern Indiana by a corporate capitalist. In which Eugene Zimmerman, the Cincinnati railroad man, is the moving spirit.

It was said that Charles S. Mollen and Edwin Hawley, in addition to Walsh and Zimmerman, will be present at the conference.

SWEDEN ALARMED BY EMIGRATION

Effort Will Be Made To Induce Agricultural Laborers To Remain in the Country

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 24. With a view of stemming the tide of emigration that threatens to deplete the country of agricultural laborers, a national subscription has been started to obtain funds for loans to laborers left unemployed after the recent big strike. The loans are intended to enable the purchase of small farms and will be made repayable within ten years.

THOUSAND IMMIGRANTS VACCINATED IN A HURRY

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—All known records for rapid vaccination are believed to have been broken at this point today. The Greek steamer Themistocles was detained at quarantine from 7:20 a. m. until 3:50 p. m. until 1,045 immigrants from Patras and other ports had been vaccinated. The immigrants have passed through the hands of the physicians at the rate of more than two in a minute.

CIRCULATES ADDRESS DENOUNCING ANTI-CLERICAL AGITATION IN SPAIN

PARIS, Oct. 24.—M. Flournoy, ex-minister of foreign affairs, is circulating an address among the Catholics which later will be presented to King Alfonso, denouncing the French demonstrations in France as an insult to the civility of the French people and to the Catholic religion.

DIRECT VOTE FOR SENATORS IS NOW A POSSIBILITY

Announcement comes from Washington that thirty-one states of the Union—the two-thirds required by the United States Constitution—have spoken through their legislatures in favor of the submission of an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, instead of by state legislatures as at present. Twenty-six states have formally petitioned Congress to submit such an amendment. Five others have gone on record as favoring the submission of such an amendment. Five others have gone on record as favoring the submission of such an amendment. With a formal request from two-thirds of the states, it is mandatory upon Congress to put the amendment before the people.

More than once the House of Representatives has formally declared for the submission of an amendment of this kind, but each time the Senate has refused to act upon it. If the legislatures of two-thirds of the states petition for it, the Senate can no longer block the will of the masses of the people. Article V of the United States Constitution provides as follows:

"If Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress."

It is to be hoped that the formal application for the submission of this amendment will be made in due form by the five states which are avowedly favorable to the amendment, so that Congress will have no alternative but to submit it. It is known that sentiment in the Senate is against such an amendment. For years the upper branch has stood in the way of the submission of this proposition to the people of the United States Senate. Such an amendment, however, would not be automatically reformative. The people would have to work through this amendment in order to make it work the reforms demanded. The same class of senators as are now in office would have no alternative but to submit it. It is known that sentiment in the Senate is against such an amendment. ## RED SOIL GROWS OX-BLOOD RAISINS

Ox-blood raisins are the latest novelty. The discovery of this new raisin is attributed to the J. Griffin & Skelly company's packing house at Dinuba. Recently he purchased a quantity of raisins and while looking over the product he noticed that certain lots differed in color from the others. Inquiry led to the discovery that these raisins of deep amaranth color or ox-blood had been grown in the red soil of the foothills. The raisins mentioned are of the Thompson Seedless variety and the red soil is said to have contributed something to them that makes them distinctive. The change does not seem to have any effect on the taste of the raisins.

LIMBERGER CHEESE AS CANCER CURE

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 24.—Limberger cheese as the principal ingredient of a cancer cure is the announcement of Philip Schuch, Jr., a local dentist following the death of his mother eleven years ago from cancer. Schuch began an investigation of the cause and growth of cancer, during which time, he asserts, he discovered that the basic germ of cancer are similar to those of leprosy and leishmaniasis. He spent several months in the laboratory of Venezuela studying the disease. Schuch's cure consists of a thorough cleansing of the affected parts with liquor of quick lime and fresh sweet milk. In addition, the patient takes fresh Swiss or Limberger cheese, moistened with glycerine. In addition, although no test of this has been made, Schuch says that theoretically the formula should cure mild cases of leprosy.

HUGHES COMPANY HAD CROWDED HOUSE

"A Night Off" Lacks Sparkle and the Players Are At Disadvantage

Mrs. Maud Beatty as Mrs. Little Long, a prepossessing widow, and Rev. Banks as Jim Thompson, were the redeeming features of an otherwise listless musical comedy entitled "A Night Off," which the Hughes company presented at the Novelty last night as the opening attraction. The comedy itself was after the Kolb and Dill style of extravaganzas, but to those who have seen Kolb and Dill in action, it seemed lacking the spirit and the illogical character of the plays put on by the last named couple.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Hughes company last night showed that there is an abundance of talent in the troupe and that those who went away satisfied that before the Hughes people have finished their engagement some classy little shows will be at the Novelty.

Mrs. Beatty and Miss Banks took the audience, which filled the house to the very doors, by storm and on every appearance were obliged to reply several times.

Edward Ross as Louis Casket of the undertaking firm of Casket & Joy, is at a disadvantage as his lines lack the sparkle comedy which should be ever present with a character of his nature.

Jack suffers from the same trouble there it can be seen that with good lines there is sufficient comedy in them to last the people of Fresno for a time.

The other players were all well in their places and the chorus, though small, was a good looking chorus, which cannot be said of every chorus in musical comedy.

MAN SUSPECTED OF STEALING WHEEL

While trying to borrow two dollars on a small bicycle in the Fresno jail on Oct. 24, Edward Ross was taken up by Officer Hume and is detained at the county jail while the officers investigate the ownership of the wheel. At police headquarters Ross first stated that he bought the wheel in Beedley, but later admitted that he had borrowed it from Tom Crocker, a carpenter of Beedley. It was impossible to locate Crocker last night, so the young man will be held pending further investigation.

SMELTER FUMES TO BE ENCLOSED

Copper Company of Shasta Prepares To End Complaints of Adjacent Farmers

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 24.—The smelter smoke question is as good as settled insofar as it concerns the Mammoth Copper company at Kennet, and the Shasta Farmers' Protective Association. Frederick Lyon, president of the latter organization, today met the representatives of the copper company, a committee of the association and their attorney. Lyon explained fully the plans and operation of the big smelter, and the results of which would be obtained. The damage by smoke will be so minimized that the affected area will be narrowed down to almost nothing.

The meeting was harmonious throughout, and while the farmers made no answer, all that committee understood that a final and satisfactory agreement will be reached at a meeting to be held in a few days, or before November 1st, the day set two months ago by the farmers for the smelting companies to make answer.

The Balaclava Copper company, operating the smelter at Kennet, is making arrangements, but has so far made no move to come in an understanding with the complaining farmers. The action taken by the Mammoth Copper company pleases everybody.

STRICKEN BLIND WHILE ON STAGE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 24.—Julius Kugel, an actor, was stricken blind, with blindness Thursday night in the middle of his sketch at the Majestic Music Hall. He finished the act without permitting the audience or those on the stage to become aware of his condition. Kugel, who was giving a comedy sketch in which he sings several songs, was seen to reel slightly and pass his hand across his eyes just before the climax of the act. Responding to a burst of applause at the end of the song, he turned his sightless eyes toward his wife and bowed through several curtain calls, laughingly thanking the audience. The instant the curtain fell for the last time, Kugel was carried to his dressing room by friends. Three doctors spent the night administering to Kugel in the hope of saving his sight. They said that there was little hope that he would ever see again.

SOUTH AMERICAN LIBERATOR HONORED

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 24.—A great demonstration was held here today in memory of General Jose de San Martin, a celebrated Spanish-American general in the war for independence, whose brilliant victory at the Maipo, April 5, 1818, virtually drove the Spaniards from Chile. Thousands of troops and school children formed a procession and marched past the statue erected in his honor.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 24.—An equestrian statue of General Jose de San Martin, the South American liberator, who died here August 17, 1850, was unveiled today with imposing ceremonies.

INSOLVENT BANKERS ACCEPTED MONEY FROM A CRIPPLED WOMAN

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24.—The knowledge that the bank was insolvent and would not again open its doors did not prevent the officers of the Oregon Trust and Savings Bank taking $220 from an invalid woman who was wheeled into the bank after the closing hour on the final day of its existence. This was a cripple to the extent that she could not move around unaided.

This crowning act of the banking officials was uncovered by the grand jury today. Mrs. Minnie Mitchell was the victim. At 4:30 o'clock, August 30, 1907, the woman was wheeled into the bank by John Watts, a drug clerk. The woman wanted to deposit a draft for $250 in the bank. The Oregon Trust accepted the draft, gave the woman $20 in cash and a certificate of deposit for $230. The bank never opened for business again.

FALL FROM WINDOW CAUSES HIS DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—A fall of fifteen feet from a rooming house window caused the death of F. Neagle, a plumber, aged 30, here today. The day was unusually warm and Neagle sat on the window sill to cool off. Losing his balance, he fell to the sidewalk and died from a fracture of the skull while on the way to a hospital.

PORTOLA FESTIVAL AS A GREAT "AD"

Business Conditions In the State Exceptionally Good

Remarkable Gains Noted In Individual Deposits in National Banks

The financial letter sent out by the American National Bank of San Francisco says that regarded from any point of view the Portola Festival, which engaged the attention of the city and environs during most of the current month, was of great interest and value as an advertisement of the resourcefulness of San Francisco and its wonderful vitality.

The parades, which were the chief feature of the festival, moved along well-paved, brilliantly lighted streets, flanked by the finest array of commercial buildings that any city of the United States can boast. Twenty-eight thousand buildings went down in the great fire that followed the earthquake of April, 1906. Since then there have been issued building permits for more than 21,000 new structures, valued at $147,000,000, and having a greater aggregate of floor space than the buildings that were destroyed. The quality of the new construction is immeasurably superior to the old, steel and concrete being the predominant materials.

Business conditions in California are exceptionally good, due in great measure to the largest crop of delicious fruits ever harvested in the state. Following is a comparative record of the number of cars of deciduous fruits forwarded by rail from California:

1907 ..... 5,287 cars
1906 ..... 4,988 cars
1905 ..... 12,817 cars
1904 ..... 13,000 cars

Right on the heels of the deciduous fruits, preserving the abundance of citrus fruits are beginning, though it will be another month before the movement is in full swing. The honor of sending out the first oranges of the season belongs to Groville, in the Sacramento valley, which point several thousand cases of the golden fruit were shipped to Australia on the 25th of October.

The remarkable growth of population and the expansion of agriculture and other industries in California is reflected in the bank figures. Between September 23, 1908, and September 1, 1909, according to the published reports of the comptroller of the currency, the national banks gained in individual deposits in the following ratio:

	Sept. 23, 1908.	Sept. 1, 1909.	Pct. Gain
Nat. Bks. of U. S.	$12,567,000	$15,882,000	26.3
California	6,130,000	7,100,000	15.8
Washington	65,387,000	69,388,000	6.1
Oregon	11,758,000	14,595,000	24.1
Utah	12,072,000	15,170,000	25.7
Nevada	4,411,000	5,134,000	16.4
Arizona	4,999,000	5,849,000	16.9

It will be observed that the California banks show a larger percentage of increase than any of the other states, with one exception, but the actual amount of deposits is larger than that in the six adjacent states combined.

An advance table also shows in a striking way the consistent progress of wealth and industrial development in all that vast territory conveniently classed as the Pacific states, referring again to the comptroller's figures. It is found that the country made a larger gain, measured by the individual deposits in the national banks, than any other group of states in the same period. Thus:

	1908	1909	Pct. Gain
Pacific states	18 per cent	24 per cent	33.3
Atlantic states	14 per cent	19 per cent	35.7
Middle Western states	10 per cent	16 per cent	60.0
New England states	10 per cent	16 per cent	60.0
Western states	10 per cent	16 per cent	60.0
Eastern states	7 per cent	12 per cent	71.4

Although agricultural and industrial conditions in the whole country are at the most satisfactory, the same cannot be said of the financial outlook. The irrational and wholly unwarranted expansion of national bank circulation has driven $50,000,000 of American gold out of the country within a year. The New York banks carrying less reserves than two years ago are confronted by heavy autumnal demands for crop moving at the very moment they have to meet the burden of a huge bull movement in the moving market. The result is increased interest rates to borrowers and the prospect of still higher rates in the immediate future with even a possibility of tight money if commercial operations should expand with unlooked-for rapidity.

WOMAN DIES, LEAVING FIVE MILLIONS

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24.—Mrs. W. S. Ladd, the richest woman in Portland, if not in the entire Northwest, died this afternoon, aged 72, the widow of the late William S. ## TRIPLE ALLIANCE FURTHER LOOSENED

English See Anti-Austrian Feeling in Italian Welcome to the Russian Czar

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The visit of the Russian emperor to Italy is commented upon as marking a further loosening of the ties binding Italy to the triple alliance. The Daily Graphic says: "The dramatic subsidence of the republic and socialist agitation which was exciting in Italy recently when Francesco Ferrer was executed when the emperor's coming was announced can only be explained by the fact that the Italians realized that the emperor's ostentatious avoidance of Austria proved that he came as a sharer in their anti-Austrian antipathies, which are the strongest passions of Italian national life."

DRY FARMERS MEET IN BILLINGS TODAY

BILLINGS, Mont., Oct. 24.—When Governor Norris touches the button to open the Dry Farming Exposition tomorrow morning, 1,500 men interested in raising grain and vegetables in regions of little rainfall will be present. Between 500 and 1,000 more will arrive tomorrow, so that there will be an attendance of from 1,500 to 2,000 delegates when the fourth dry farming congress opens on Tuesday.

The dry farming congress was organized in Denver four years ago, and was a little meeting of 150 men that has grown until it is attended now by several delegations of that number and representatives of at least a dozen foreign countries.

In the matter of new officers, there has been little development. The governor of the state who will be the president of the congress is followed. Each state vitally interested in the movement will have representation on the executive committee or board of governors. Officials of eleven railroads will be in attendance.

SCHOOLS MUST HAVE FRESH AIR

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—In an address before the Philadelphia Teachers' association last night, Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of the Chicago schools, laid particular stress upon the physical education of the child.

"Lack of forcefulness and strength of the average American child," she declared, "is due largely to want of fresh air in the school room."

She especially commended instruction of teachers in regard to the germ theory in tuberculosis, so that proper ventilation systems may be established and necessary preventive treatment taught the child. The introduction of manual training in elementary schools was also approved.

Miss Buckingham has been living in Palo Alto since her graduation last year.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, nausea, indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), flatulency, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprised me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years. Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

ARRANGING FOR STATE CONVENTION

Head Officers of Farmers' Union Will Attend Session Will Be Held in Fresno During Month of November

Arrangements are being made by the local branch of the Farmers' Union for the entertainment of the National President, Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, and National Secretary R. H. McCulloch, of Texas, who will be at the state convention which will be held in Fresno commencing on November 8th. The convention will be attended by delegates from all portions of California, and is called for the purpose of effecting a state organization under provisions that will entitle it to the charter and all the privileges of having a state president as well as a secretary and other state officers. In order to bring this about it will be necessary to show that the Farmers' Union in California has a membership of 1000. The local officers assert that this can be readily shown, in the Sacramento valley considerable interest has been aroused in the Farmers' Union of late and many members have been added to the rolls in that section. It is expected that by the time the state convention is called there will be a good-sized margin over the required number. State Organizer H. H. Welch, who has recently returned from his wedding trip to the East, is located in Fresno and he will have much to do with the arrangements for the reception of the grand officers. The day after the convention in making inspection trips over the surrounding country in automobiles that will be provided for the purpose. As yet it has not been decided in what particular place the state convention will be held, but it is probable that the Barton will be secured.

"THE MAN'S DAY" SUBJECT OF TALK

Dr. W. S. Holt, field secretary for the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church, delivered a strong address yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. to a gathering of men on "The Man's Day."

In the course of his address, Dr. Holt told what a man could do in a day and what he should do. He pointed out that young men of today will be the men of tomorrow and he urged all young men to so live that they would never regret the things they do today.

The speaker related how as boys, the young men of today were told that they would soon be the men of tomorrow but that such advice fell on idle ears. The prediction has come true, however, and Dr. Holt emphasized the fact that those who were boys a few years ago, elating under restraint, are now men, free from restraint, yet wishing they were under restraint.

In order to be strong men capable of doing the work of the world, Dr. Holt urged all to follow Christ.

The men's chorus rendered several selections during the afternoon.

BOGUS CHECK MAN IS BADLY WANTED

Woods and His Confederate Worked in Other Cities

Seventeen Charges Preferred Against Pair By San Diego Business Men

Thomas Woods, alias Wilson, alias Chandler, alias Wright, who was arrested Saturday night by Detective Parsons and Officer Castner for passing bogus checks on eight or ten business men in this city, is a much cleverer crook than was suspected by the officers. From developments yesterday it appears that Woods and his confederate have worked this game in six or eight towns in the state.

T. C. Davis, Woods' confederate, made his escape Saturday night and it is the belief of the officers that he went out of town by the foot route, not waiting for any train.

Shortly after Woods was arrested, a man representing himself to be George W. Jones, the Fresno attorney, called up police headquarters and asked whether the man had been arrested for forgery. The police clerk would give the questioner no information, but the inquirer later called up the jail and there learned that Woods had been arrested.

The officers are of the belief that this personage was none other than Woods' confederate. Although a strict watch was kept on the room occupied by the two men, Davis did not appear on Saturday night and has not as yet. Davis saw Woods taken into custody by Castner and when he found the game was up, fled the city.

According to Detective Farnum, who has been investigating the case, Woods and Davis worked in San Diego, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Bakersfield, Santa Cruz and San Jose before coming to Fresno. After working the southern cities and Bakersfield, they came to this city and passed several good checks to establish a credit. From here they went to Santa Cruz and San Jose and returned on the 11th of October. The check passing was not started until Saturday night.

At the rooming house where the men were staying, Woods registered under the name of Wilson and it has been learned that in the south, he used the name of Chandler and Wright, besides several other names which have not been learned. San-Diego-seventeen charges of bogus check work have been preferred against Woods and his confederate and it is probable that he will spend some time to come in the state penitentiary.

Woods was taken to police headquarters yesterday and awaited by the officers but he refused to talk, stating that he wanted an attorney and would not say anything until he had an attorney. Farnum informed him that he did not need to talk, as he had enough proof to send him over the road.

PORTOLA FESTIVAL UNSETTLED MARKET

Better Prices for Hay Not Looked For in the Immediate Future

The San Francisco hay and grain market of Scott, Wagner & Miller says that receipts of hay last week have about 2500 tons, which is considerably less than was received during the preceding week. Considerable of the hay that has come in has been handled with difficulty, as the week's business has been so unsettled and demoralized by the Portola festivities that the conditions have been unsatisfactory.

There has been no particular change in prices. Fancy wheat hay and choice red cut hay, which have been in light supply during the week, have sold fairly well. The entire line of market varieties of hay has moved off slowly, and with no better results than were obtained during the previous week.

The farmers who came to town to view the Portola games and enjoy the hospitality of the city through this festival week, combined a little business with their pleasure. Many who are convinced that no better prices for hay may be looked for in the future, are anxious to dispose of their holdings, and large quantities of hay have been in the market offering for sale during the week. These offerings are located in most of the large hay-producing sections and tend to show a general tendency on the part of the holders to begin to move in their hay, and turn it into money if possible, under prevailing market conditions.

Alfalfa hay has arrived freely by water, and much effort has been necessary to obtain sale for these large quantities. Concessions in price are freely made to induce buyers to take hold. When the river banks are cleared up, a little better tone in the market may possibly be looked for.

Arrivals of straw are very moderate, and while the demand is equally so, there is a shade of firmness to be seen on account of the known necessity of beginning to draw upon the warehouses for an immediate supply.

WOMAN LECTURES AGAINST SALOON

She Tells of the Fight Being Waged in Southern States

Warns Local Workers They Have Hard Job To Keep Town Dry

"You have the hardest job of your life on your hands to keep this city dry," declared Miss Ida Alexander, of the First Methodist church, yesterday afternoon. "Even now the smart men are fighting on foot to defeat your purpose. You must accept no compromise. All such schemes have been tried and they have failed. The whiskey men must not be allowed to rule."

Miss Alexander in her lecture on the subject of "How and Why the South is Going Dry," proved that she was not a sensationalist, though admitting that her training has all been obtained on the stump in gathering votes for the temperance cause.

In clear and concise manner and without any attempt at dramatics she told of the fight that had been waged and which is even now in progress in the land of Dixie. Her field of endeavor centered about Nashville, Tenn., where the whiskey men led by Mark Shannon, a crafty politician, held the whip hand up to the time they were dislodged from power in a manner that made their overthrow seem impossible. Shannon was an uncompromising boss, and incidentally, according to Miss Alexander, pretty much of a hoodlum. He controlled all the city officers to such an extent that he was considered immune from punishment for transgressions of law.

To wage a political fight against Shannon was regarded as so much waste of time and energy. As a consequence many of the most ardent advocates of temperance hesitated about entering a fight with the odds against them. But one day Shannon fired a bullet through a saloon containing several persons while the big bug was in the air. During the ensuing struggle with the police Shannon was killed.

"There on the ground was the homely, sin-stained face of Mark Shannon," declared Miss Alexander, "was that not the work of the Lord?"

Believing into the attempts of the saloon men in the South to crush the fight against them, Miss Alexander stated that all arguments now so common in California have been used. Printed bills were placed in the hands of school children before the elections stating that if the saloons were voted out the municipal officers would soon be empty and that grass would grow in the streets. It was even pointed out that the drug stores under dry ordinance regulations would do a thriving business in whiskey, and that perhaps men who must have some sort of stimulant would resort to the use of opium and other drugs. But all of the arguments have failed to stop the fight which is spreading throughout the Union.

Miss Alexander worked to some extent before coming to Fresno in the northern section of the state, and in her remarks yesterday she took occasion to brand as gatherings of the Royal Arch, the meetings of the so-called business men that have been held in Sacramento during the past few months for the avowed purpose of regulating the saloons in that city.

CHIN OF SMALL BOY IS CUT OPEN

Henry Busick Has Close Call From Heels of Horse

Animal Kicks At Helpless Youngster Hanging Over Dashboard

Henry Busick, a 12 year old boy residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Busick, at 421 D street, had a narrow escape from being kicked to death by a horse yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock while driving with them about three miles west of town. That the horse of the horse which flew past his head several times did not strike his mark, and that the boy sustained only a badly gashed chin as the result of sudden contact with some portion of the wagon in which he was riding is regarded with wonder.

The Busick family yesterday spent Sunday in the country, all making the trip in their wagon. Upon return when they were nearing home a crowd of boys in the roadway caused the horse to take fright. The animal, which was going along at a fairly good rate of speed, suddenly stopped in its tracks, and the boy, who was occupying a front seat was precipitated onto the dashboard of the wagon. His body, however, was held by the reins, and he remained on the wagon bed while his shoulders and head hung out in proximity to the legs of the horse. The animal, by this time was rearing and plunging, and when it felt that all was well, it took the wagon it let its steel shod hoofs, which passed on each side of the boy's head.

The boy in falling gashed his chin on some hard substance and when his parents arrived they had drawn him back into the wagon and more or less quieted the horse, and saw the blood gushing from their son's face they became badly frightened themselves.

A farmer who was passing by saw the difficulty and taking the boy in his arms rushed rapidly in search of a doctor. By the time that town was reached, the blood from the wound had saturated the boy's shirt from his neck to his belt line and he presented a ghastly appearance. Some difficulty was experienced in locating a physician, owing to the fact that it was Sunday and the majority of them were not in their offices. But finally Dr. W. T. Burke was located and he dressed the wound. Last night it was stated that no serious results are anticipated though the lad was considerably lamed up aside from having his chin gashed.

PIONEER OF FRESNO IS LAID TO REST

Several Hundred Attend the Funeral of the Late Thomas H. Hunt of This City

Funeral services over the remains of Thomas Henry Hunt, the Fresno pioneer, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Christian church, at the corner of O and Mariposa streets. Friends and relatives to the number of several hundred were at the church and magnificent floral offerings, surrounding and covering the casket, told of the esteem in which T. H. Hunt had been held by all.

The services at the church were conducted by Rev. Ray C. Miller. A quartet consisting of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bowler, Miss McAlpine and E. F. Hughes sang several selections during the services. The pall bearers were juniors of the schools in the city. The deceased had been a junior at one of the schools for years.

The services at the grave were conducted by the Fraternal Brotherhood, of which order the deceased was a member. A large number of the members of the two local lodges attended.

Thomas Henry Hunt came to California in 1849, when he was 9 years of age. While he had lived in the state fifty years, thirty years of that time were spent in Fresno. He was among the early settlers in this vicinity and from the time he came here thirty years ago, resided here continuously.

OTIS JOHNSON IS REPORTED BETTER

Victim of Auto Accident Is Likely To Survive

Examination Reveals Fact That the Skull Is Not Fractured

A telephone message received last night from Oakland is to the effect that Otis E. Johnson, the former Fresno young man, who was injured Saturday by being struck and run over by a racing automobile, is not likely to die. The message came from Marvin Johnson, a brother of the injured youth. He and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Johnson, and a sister Mrs. Homer Dunn, all residents of Angus street, left for Oakland immediately after hearing about the accident.

It was further stated over the telephone by Johnson's brother that while the injuries were bad enough they were not so serious as the sensational early reports would have them. At no time since the accident has the victim lost consciousness, and in fact, it is stated that considering that he was struck by a car racing approximately eighty miles an hour, his injuries are slight, and the physicians consider his escape from instant death little short of miraculous. Johnson's injuries consist of cuts about the face and an injured back. His body is covered with bruises, which are not considered serious. The first reports to the effect that the youth's back and several ribs were broken and that the skull had been fractured are denied.

According to the reports of the arrested Johnson and his fiancée, Miss Margaret Murphy, were standing at the edge of a boulevard watching the cars as they sped by. Suddenly a Knap car driven by Frank Free and with a man named Robinson aboard as a mechanic, swung around a nearly curve at the terrific speed of eighty miles an hour. Just as Free was attempting to straighten out the machine after taking the curve, a portion of the steering gear broke and the auto becoming unmanageable, continued its flight into the side of the boulevard. A small tree that stood in its path was snapped as though with an axe. Johnson was standing in line with the oncoming car and as he saw it advancing lost his presence of mind and instead of springing to one side he fell before it. The result was that he was knocked down and the wheels of the heavy machine passed over him. Miss Murphy also had a "close call," her gown being brushed by the car as it passed her.

The automobile after striking Johnson did not stop until it had reached a considerable distance and buried itself to the hubs in the soft soil of an orchard.

GROWERS MEET AT HANFORD TODAY

President Giffen and Director S. L. Heisinger Will Be in Attendance

President W. L. Giffen of the Central California Raisin Company will leave today for Hanford where this afternoon he will preside at the meetings of Kings county raisin growers. The meeting is one which was adjourned over from last week at which time a committee was appointed to do advertising and summon the growers in general in order that the raisin dollar company might be placed before them in an intelligent manner by the promoters of the plan themselves.

Besides President Giffen, there will be present R. L. Heisinger of Selma, one of the directors of the company. President Giffen will take with him a large batch of the printed five-year contracts, and if any of the growers at the meeting are ready to sign they will be given the opportunity. The matter of selecting the Kings county director will also be taken up.

The Kings county headquarters of the company in Fresno will remain open as usual, with John Bonner in charge. It is also possible that President Giffen will be present during a portion of the forenoon.

BALLOON RACE FAILS

OAKLAND, Oct. 24.—A balloon race to San Jose, which was attempted again today, came to a sudden end a few minutes after its start because of contrary winds. The "Queen of the Pacific," entered by the Pacific Club, was first to start and the light cart, which carried her toward the bay, within ten minutes the valve rope was pulled and the balloon came to earth. The "City of Oakland" drifted over the bay for a few miles and was towed back to shore by a row boat.

FRESNO'S PRIZE SWEET POTATO

It Is Declared To Be Largest In the World

Its Size Made Its Exhibition At Recent County Fair Impractical

The largest sweet potato in the world is on exhibition at the Chamber of Commerce. It is so large that Secretary Robertson has not had time to measure its circumference nor to sum up on the scales to help him place it on the scales to be weighed. The curliest was grown in the place of W. L. Aubrey, near Kesney Park in this county, and would have been shown at the county fair last week were it not that it was received after the fair had been in progress several days, and as a consequence it was found impossible to move goods in and it made room for it in the main gallery.

The potato is considered quite a freak even in the vicinity where it was grown, and where products grow to such an astonishing size that they attract but little attention. It was brought to the Chamber of Commerce in a box wagon drawn by four mules. The animals required three hours to make the trip of ten miles to town.

and were almost exhausted when they arrived. Four men worked half a day to take the potato from the ground using jack-screws and a derrick. After the potato had been extracted from the bottom of Mother Earth one of the horses accidentally slipped and fell into the hole, spraining its ankle. He was forced to remain in the excavation until a ladder could be secured to enable him to climb to the surface. It is understood that Mr. Aubrey will not have the hole covered up again, but that he will cause the sides to be excavated and squared and then use the excavation as a cellar for an extra building that he proposes to erect on his premises.

The tuber is much larger than any ever grown in the sweet potato belt at Livingston and Atwater. It is said that when "sweats" grow to be as large as this one, they are not as good to eat as the smaller ones, for the reason that they become stringy and somewhat tough. There is one good thing about the tubers of the Kentucky district, whenever they stop growing, they never stop growing. This has often been proven. The farmers, knowing this, simply hide their time until they consider the market price about right and then take their crops from the ground.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—A telegram today from Dallas, Texas, says fourteen Chinese who arrived in that city October 14th have been arrested, and are being held in a stockade across the Mexican border.
